RPNB Safe Launches All-New Smart Biometric Gun Safe During SHOT Show 2027

LAS VEGAS, Nev. - January 19, 2027 – RPNB Safe introduces its next-generation smart biometric gun safe, making its official industry debut at SHOT Show 2027, Booth #40741.

This new smart vault ARMOR KNIGHT series (Model No. RP2018) integrates upgraded biometric fingerprint recognition, keypad backup, an anti-pry heavy-gauge steel body, and California DOJ certification as a firearm safety device. Built for quick-access home firearm storage, the unit supports multiple user codes, tamper-alert notifications, and flexible mounting options–including a 1900-lb rated steel cable for dual anchoring and in-vehicle security. Its compact footprint fits bedside tables, desks, closets, and vehicle installations, allowing users to secure it in a car or truck with the included safety cable, serving civilian gun owners and responsible home-security users.

Engineered to reduce common failure points found on budget safes, the model goes through rigorous drop, pry testing to deliver consistent real-world security performance. The RP2018 features a 508 DPI biometric fingerprint sensor storing up to 20 prints with instant auto-open lid,a backlit 6-digit keypad with silent mode, and two manual backup keys. An interior LED light illuminates on opening, foam lining protects valuables, and a USB-C emergency port ensures access even if batteries fail.

“Many consumers want fast access without compromising safety,” commented Nicole, Product Manager. “We rebuilt this safe from the ground-up to solve real user frustrations: unreliable biometrics, weak door structures and poor interior layout.

Interested dealers may inquire about volume wholesale pricing, drop-ship programs and marketing support packages at the show.
