

HRV ANNOUNCES AVAILABILITY OF SSPC C3/C5 TRAINING COURSES

High-value deleading/hazardous coatings removal training to begin in December

Moon Township, PA (October 12, 2017) – HRV Conformance Verification Associates, Inc. (HRV), leaders in quality assurance and quality control inspection, coatings inspection, and construction management and construction inspection (CM/CI), has announced that its offerings of Society for Protective Coatings \(SSPC\) C3 and C5 courses are slated for December 2017.

The C3 training (Supervisor/Competent Person Training for Deleading/Hazardous Coatings Removal on Industrial and Marine Structures) is scheduled for December 4-7, 2017, while the one-day C5 training (Supervisor/Competent Person Training Refresher Course for Deleading/Hazardous Coatings Removal on Industrial and Marine Structures) is scheduled for December 8, 2017. Sixteen seats are available for each course. HRV's SSPC C3/C5 Training Registration is open now through November 17, 2017.

HRV President H. Rochelle Stachel said, “Delivering on our commitment to provide SSPC C3 and C5 training is a significant milestone in formally establishing HRV’s Training Group. We look forward to hosting coatings professionals from a broad range of industries, and from all over the country for these important SSPC courses. Our highly-regarded coatings inspection expertise and offerings of associated technical training helps solidify HRV as a leader in this niche market.”

HRV Coatings Operations Manager Jared Rigo added, “Working closely with SSPC in establishing our course offerings and schedule, HRV is well-prepared and excited to welcome our first attendees in early December. This is a passionate subject for me as a coatings professional—my goal, as an instructor, is to convey that passion by demonstrating how proper training can make a huge difference in worker safety, effective coatings removal processes, and extending the longevity of coated construction and fabrication materials.”
