SOURCE INTRODUCES LAZE LOUNGE

March 9, 2020

The Source International team is proud to bring their latest piece to market: Laze—a lounge chair distinguished by its beautifully angled, graceful silhouette.

Laze was designed by Burkhard Vogtherr, one of the best known European designers of his time. Throughout the course of his extensive career he won numerous awards—designing for the most renowned furniture manufacturers in the world.

While the relaxed back angle evokes comfort, Laze is a meeting chair. At home around a low coffee table, it's strong frame lets users perch near the front edge of the seat and hold a meeting in an active, upright posture. Laze delights in its artful form, bringing both utility and style to casual meeting and working spaces across every sector—lobbies and private offices in corporate, hospitality, and education settings.

The sled frame or stationary four-blade base can be specified in stainless steel for ultimate durability or powder coated steel with a variety of finish options. Laze brings classic modern style—for an elegant, comfortable and distinct new option in the free standing lounge category.

Source International continues to introduce contract products that provide a blend of sophisticated design and user-friendly pricing. Laze passes ANSI/BIFMA testing and comes with Source International's standard Lifetime Structural Warranty.
