OONA means «one» every piece is handmade and unique.

about

oona is a fine handmade-jewellery brand founded by Maria Moro in 2013 that aims to revive and foster traditional jewellery values and techniques.

Maria got her masters degrees in Economics and Sociology followed by a professional career in fashion and lifestyle magazines. During the past several years she has worked in the luxury industry in various countries across Europe and it was through her frequent trips to Asia that she fell in love with jewellery; always attracted to antique pieces, gems and the techniques of local craftsmen, so over the years she began to create and design her own pieces, learn gemmology and revive old jewellery-making processes and techiques.

Maria lives between Madrid and Sri Lanka where she makes the production. Her inspiration comes from travelling, searching and browsing for antiques and any artistic expression from the colonial times in the Asian continent.

Art has been present forever in her life and she has an extensive background in the interior design and fashion worlds which have given her skills for the design and creation of fine jewellery pieces.

fine craftmanship in the island of ceylon

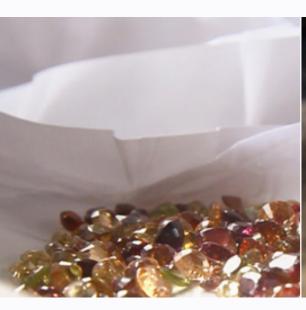

oona collections are handmade by master artisans in Sri Lanka.

Maria works closely with selected craftsmen and goldsmiths for each part of the making process. She aims to revive the traditional jewellery techniques and support the collective of local artisans.

Fine craftsmanship with the utmost care and attention to detail characterises each piece following Maria's designs and the result is delicate jewels vintage inspired with a contemporary style.

gems of ceylon «the jewel of the indian ocean»

The island of Ceylon, known as the "Jewel of the Indian Ocean" which like no other place on Earth has produced such a wide variety of gems and precious stones: sapphires, topaz, amethysts, tourmalines, moonstones...

All the oona pieces are set with a rich variety of natural gems and precious stones preserving their natural beauty and colors...

Every gem is carefully selected by Maria who is involved in the entire process: polishing, shaping and faceting the stones as a key part of the design.

The collections, Lotus, Philo, Vintage and Gems of Ceylon are inspired by early and mid 20th century style and the influence that the European design left in the colonies in the Asian continent.

The four collections comprise delicate and finely crafted jewellery pieces that evoke the past eras whilst simulstanealy showcasing a contemporary and edgy style.

Maria creates a collection every year proposing creative designs with a diversity of natural gems and diamonds. New pieces are regularly added to keep the collections updated.

lotus collection Inspired by the Art Deco period, clean lines characterise the design of this collection with a fine setting of old diamonds mixed with other gems such as spinels, rubies or sapphires.
