„The limited series and one-offs that result from Alexa Lixfeld’s interventions are first and foremost meant to be statements, processes and experiments where interaction is central, where new relationships are woven, and where the improbable is more than possible.

Since each project is an exploration to which both destination and pathway are important, each object comes with a narrative, and clearly reveals the traces of its making and process: Alexa’s objects are storytellers. Alexa merges contemporary design in her very own, distinct sensitive way with finest bohemian glass making tradition & craft to create unique objects limited series and bespoke installations.“

After working ten years as a model, Alexa began her design career with studies in Germany and at the Design Academy Eindhoven, Netherlands. Upon graduating, she went independent in 2007. Alexa Lixfeld is a design studio, consultancy and production company in Hamburg, Germany. The studio engages in designing extraordinary items as much as in delivering them to the public. With its kaleidoscopic portfolio, Alexa Lixfeld is deeply a project enterprise. Alexa takes on building an economy of the special. Each of her productions is a non-industrial, non-standard, non-exploitative, individually approved good. Doing so allows to create goods that, in the integrity of the project, would not be viable the industrial way – or, in other words, would not exist. For her designs as much as for her productive achievements, Alexa has been awarded many prizes. Her work is constantly on show somewhere in the world and has been exhibited e.g. at MARTa (Herford), Rossana Orlandi (Milan) and Gallery Slott (Paris). It is part of the MAK Frankfurt’s permanent collection. Alexa’s representatives list includes many of the world’s most forefront design galleries and stores on your way from New York to Paris, London, Milan, Moscow and Tokyo.
