

PRODUCTS OF NATURE-FRIENDLY PEOPLE

Back To Earth uses a wide range of nature's discards to create a rare and natural selection of hand crafted produce. The forest floors of Sri Lanka are, however, not the only source for raw material. Hand-made recycled paper is also combined to play an integral part of the wonderful and endearing collection.

Expressing themselves in diversity, like nature, the materials and products evolve constantly, taking root in new ideas or uses, which continue to add to its growing range and popularity. Back To Earth can, as a result, apply a host of natural materials to many given designs, or create one to your specification, if you so wish. While the quality of each piece is assured, quantities are flexible, even to the extent of creating an exclusive line.