At eqpd, our intent is to use the principles of Industrial Design to building durable, practical, universal goods while creating regional manufacturing jobs.

Our products are designed to the similarities among us all and we believe by focusing on what makes us alike, a whole new range of products can be born.

We are taking everyday gear and running it through our filter to create more useful, versatile and durable objects for living.

Our products reflect the sense of purpose, simplicity & deliberate construction that Industrial Design was founded on. We believe our mission to share these principles will universally result in better products, being made in better ways, closer to your home.
