PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Flying Circle Exhibits at the 2019 SHOT Show

Flying Circle, a key supplier of field, tactical, and travel bags to the U.S. Military for more than 30 years, will exhibit for the first time at the 2019 SHOT Show in Las Vegas.

Boerne, TX, January 9, 2019 – Chances are Flying Circle is in a category of its own when it comes to making the big leap from sewing bags in a cattle barn to having their products sold in military bases worldwide, but Jim and Joy Chittim were certainly up for the challenge when they started the company in 1988.

Back then, the husband and wife business duo were Texas cattle ranchers and well-known in the 4-H stock show industry for their sheep coats and Jim's patented cattle halters. The couple wanted to create a new line of products that they could manufacture on their family ranch and sell when show products were out of season, so they developed a line of bags for schools, and Flying Circle was born and named after the family ranch brand. As Joy continued to expand the business, Flying Circle became one of the first companies to introduce a line of quality camouflage luggage to the Army & Air Force Exchange Stores. Today, more than 30 years later, Flying Circle is one of the leading suppliers of tactical and travel luggage to the U.S. military, and their commitment to quality and innovation can still be found in each one of their products.

Their son, Jimmy, now oversees the product development and daily operations, along with some of the very same employees from the beginning. This has led the family-operated business to a whole new level of growth. Flying Circle continues to innovate and distribute a wide range of items to the military and sportsmen, including military specialty bags, tactical backpacks, business and travel bags, gun cases, and travel accessories.

Customer service and satisfaction are just as paramount to the company as quality and trust in their products. Flying Circle's mission is to provide service members with the most dependable products at a reasonable cost. The company backs their products with a lifetime warranty and top-notch customer service because service members have much bigger things to worry about than the reliability of their gear.

Flying Circle also offers a variety of convenient services to their wholesale partners like custom screen printing and embroidery, private label manufacturing, and drop shipping.
