

Ti Outdoors Releases New Content for Live-Fire Gaming System

Golden, CO. —Ti Outdoors is keeping content fresh with another new game release for the V23 Live-Fire gaming system. This past month, Ti Outdoors sent out a game update of 5 additional games for the V23, including Halloween games, zombies, and even a retro arcade game that can be shot with LIVE AMMO!

Keeping Content Fresh

Ti Outdoors realizes the need to constantly produce content that is new and exciting. “We want to keep our customer base happy by releasing new content, which will their customers come back to their range see whats new!”, says V23 Product Manager, Alex Gauci. Much of the content on the machine is also randomized to keep shooters guessing where the targets will show up.

The Ti Outdoors Difference

What makes Ti Outdoors’s products special is their in-house production studio and game design. Ti creates all their content for the V23 specifically to be shot with live-ammunition. In addition, many of the games being produced are based on current customer feedback and suggestions! “We strive to produce content that our customers want to shoot”, says Ti President Greg Otte.

About Ti Outdoors

Ti Outdoors has been manufacturing training simulators for years but has realized there was a need to bring fun and entertainment back into the gun range atmosphere. This newer generation of shooters want something more than just static target shooting. Noticing the lack of product availability in this area, Ti Outdoors, has released the V23 to fill this void.
