

Havalon Announces Partnership with Michael Waddell's Bone Collector

Havalon Knives is proud to announce a new licensing partnership with the legendary Bone Collector team. The Bone Collector team has been an industry leader since their show debuted in 2009. With a focus on the culture of the hunter, hosts Michael Waddell, Nick Mundt, and Travis "T-Bone" Turner bring a fresh, honest and youthful approach to the outdoor industry.

To kick off their partnership, Havalon is debuting their first collaboration with Michael Waddell's Bone Collector. Introducing the new Havalon Rebel. The Havalon Rebel perfectly embodies the spirit of the Bone Collector team; it features a drop point skinning blade on one side and a Havalon Quik-Change fitment on the other. "We think this knife really captures what the Bone Collector team is all about. It is true to its roots with a traditional style blade on one end, but it takes a modern approach too with the utilization of the Havalon replaceable blade system on the other", said Ryan Cull, Havalon Brand Manager. "This formula of mixing traditional and modern styles has been a huge part of the Bone Collector team's success and we feel we really tapped into that with the Havalon Rebel."

Slated for a Spring 2017 release, the new Havalon Rebel features a folding drop point blade on one side and a Havalon Quik-Change fitment on the other. Comes with 6 additional 60A blades, 2 replaceable gut hook blades and a convenient zipper holster.
