About Alpha Silencer

Alpha Silencer is a technology driven engineering and manufacturing company; laser focused on creating the lightest, highest performance titanium silencers on the market.. Shoot our cans and we think you'll agree! Meet our people and we think you'll understand. Our team includes some of the top minds in firearm suppression engineering, AI tuned gas flow physics, advanced metallurgy, precision CNC machining, laser and electron beam manufacturing, and modern sporting arms.

The Genesis of Alpha can be traced to the Engineers developing hypersonic jet inlet ducts at the famed Lockheed 'Skunk Works'. They created a unique computer program to characterize and minimize the sound and sound pressure levels in and near those ducts. Two of them were avid shooters and firearms entrepreneurs, as well as talented engineers, who retrained that technology to create the ultimate internal shaping for a modern suppressor. You can see and experience the results today in every Alpha Silencer Titan – the revolutionary anechoic X baffle with interrupted central tube.

“Thanks and congratulations to the whole Alpha Silencer Team for the amazing product you have created. The last three years of technology and product development have now proven to be worth it. And, thanks to so many phenomenal shooters for the incredibly positive feedback. Shoot it, and you will know!”
