

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Former CIA Officer Jason Hanson Launches Spycraft Knives — A new tactical knife company for intelligence operatives by intelligence operatives.

CEDAR CITY, UT — Former CIA Officer and New York Times bestselling author Jason Hanson today announced the launch of Spycraft Knives, a new knife company dedicated to producing elite-grade tactical blades for intelligence professionals, veterans, and everyday patriots who refuse to compromise on strength, quality, or values.

The company's flagship blade, The Recon, draws directly from Hanson's experience serving as a CIA Officer and his lifelong passion for knives. Crafted from premium Austrian K340 steel and built with military-grade PVD coating, The Recon is nearly a quarter-inch thick — a fixed-blade designed for the rigors of real-world operations and the men who live by readiness and resolve.

Hanson's journey with knives began long before his Agency career — from his Eagle Scout days in Virginia's backwoods to covert training in places he can't name.

"While at the Agency, I learned the hard way that many so-called 'tactical' knives fail when it matters most," said Hanson. "The Recon was born from those lessons — it's the knife I wish I'd had in the field."

With The Recon, Hanson has engineered a tool to meet the exacting standards of operatives and warriors. Features include a textured G10 handle for all-condition grip, integrated finger ring for retention, and a custom Kydex sheath offering multiple carry options.

Spycraft Knives isn't just selling blades — it's reviving a mindset. In an era that often celebrates comfort over courage, Hanson says Spycraft Knives stands for the timeless values of self-reliance, discipline, and duty.

"Preparedness isn't paranoia — it's prudence," Hanson added. "Spycraft Knives is for fathers, veterans, and patriots who understand that protecting what matters isn't just a right — it's our duty."
