

No Second Thoughts Inc., Showcasing Custom Tactical Bag Design and Advanced Manufacturing Capabilities

San Diego, CA — No Second Thoughts Inc. (NST), a U.S.-based tactical and apparel manufacturing company with over 25 years of industry experience, will exhibit at SHOT Show 2026, presenting its full range of custom-designed tactical bags, medical support systems, and advanced manufacturing solutions for military, government, and commercial customers.

Founded in 1999 and headquartered in San Diego, California, No Second Thoughts Inc. specializes in the design and production of tactical backpacks, medical support bags, harnesses, vests, and ballistic plate carriers. NST serves the needs of the U.S. military, foreign military partners, and outdoor professionals, offering both proprietary product lines and fully customized solutions tailored to mission-specific requirements.

What sets NST apart is its in-house design and engineering capability, led by an engineer with more than 40 years of tactical experience. Beyond manufacturing to customer drawings, NST collaborates directly with clients during product development to design purpose-built solutions that address real-world operational needs. NST's R&D services support rapid prototyping, iterative design refinement, embroidery services, and scalable production.

NST operates two manufacturing facilities in the United States, supported by TAA-compliant production operations in Mexico, allowing the company to flexibly manage production volumes ranging from small runs of 500 units to high-capacity orders exceeding 150,000 units. Production planning is structured to match the size, complexity, and urgency of each program.

The company integrates modern manufacturing technologies, including advanced hardware systems and laser-cut materials, to enhance durability, precision, and repeatability across product lines. This approach enables NST to meet demanding defense, tactical, and government contracting standards while maintaining cost efficiency and consistent quality.

At SHOT Show 2026, attendees will have the opportunity to learn more about NST's custom design capabilities, proprietary tactical product offerings, and end-to-end manufacturing support for government, defense, and commercial programs.
