XGO® Introduces the Squadron Collection: Built to Move, Designed to Fight

Engineered to operate as one.

Southern Pines, NC — January 2026 — XGO®, a leading manufacturer of U.S.-made performance and flame-resistant apparel for the U.S. Military, Law Enforcement, and First Responders, today announced the launch of the XGO® Squadron Collection, a purpose-built combat and duty apparel line engineered for mobility, durability, and seamless integration with modern load-bearing systems.

In military operations, a squadron succeeds through coordination, adaptability, and trust in equipment. The Squadron Collection is designed with that same principle in mind—garments that function together as a system, supporting movement, protection, and operational efficiency in dynamic environments.

Built for the demands of modern combat and duty use, the Squadron Collection emphasizes articulation, durability, and compatibility with armor, packs, and mission-critical gear. Every piece is engineered to move with the operator, reduce friction points, and withstand repeated wear in austere conditions.

“The Squadron Collection is about unity—how equipment works together to support the mission,” said Houston Brady, Director of Marketing/Sales at XGO®. “These garments are designed to integrate seamlessly into the operator’s kit, enhancing mobility and durability without compromise.”

The Squadron Collection, like majority of XGO®’s product assortment, is proudly Berry Amendment compliant and 100% Made in the USA, manufactured at XGO®’s production facility Candor, North Carolina. The collection reflects XGO®’s commitment to function-driven design and American manufacturing.

The Squadron Collection expands XGO®’s system beyond next-to-skin layers, delivering mission-ready apparel engineered to perform in concert with the rest of the XGO® lineup.

When every movement matters, the system must move as one. XGO® Squadron Collection — Built to move. Designed to fight.
