

CRAZY CREEK introduces packable field chair, the Hex Series, for the tactical & hunting market at SHOT Show

A dependable carry-anywhere seat that rolls tight and packs small, handles rough terrain with ease, and supports long days in the backcountry.

Red Lodge, Montana. (January 2026) – CRAZY CREEK Products, originators of the legless camp chair and trusted innovators in outdoor seating, was born in the backcountry of Red Lodge, Montana, and built for people who spend real time on rough ground. For more than three decades, CRAZY CREEK chairs have been relied on by hikers, hunters, guides, anglers, and anyone who needs dependable support when the terrain works against them.

Now, CRAZY CREEK is proud to make its SHOT Show debut in January 2026, introducing its proven HEX Series to the hunting, field operations, and shooting sports communities—bringing decades of backcountry-tested performance into the tactical world.

CRAZY CREEK's reputation for dependability carries straight into tactical and hunting kits. Different mission, same problem: long days outside, uneven terrain, and a body that performs better when it's not fighting for comfort. The HEX chairs pack light, deploy fast, and stay put on slopes and rugged surfaces. They take the strain out of long sits so you can stay sharp and focused on the work in front of you.

“Our HEX Series carries forward the legacy we’ve built of go-anywhere comfort, to perform in places where other chairs fall short,” said Forrest Rogers, co-owner of CRAZY CREEK. “Our chairs don’t have legs that can snap or hinges that can jam. They are simple and provide solid support on the ground when needed most.”

True to CRAZY CREEK’s commitment to rugged performance, the HEX Series is mission-ready for the tactical world and engineered for serious outdoor adventures, making it a dependable field-standard piece of gear for hunters and field operators. The Hex Original chair measures just four inches in diameter when rolled and weighs only 20 ounces, making it easy to carry anywhere. These chairs come with a lifetime warranty, carbon reinforced fiberglass stays, are water resistant, and feature multiple colors to suit your needs.

In addition to the Original, the HEX is also available in a LongBack version, which is two inches wider and four inches taller than the Original, and a PowerLounger version, which is the same size as the LongBack version, but with a third panel for extra comfort or use as a sleeping pad.

The CRAZY CREEK team will be exhibiting alongside the State of Montana booth and other Montana businesses at SHOT Show. As part of the booth experience, they are offering a Meet & Greet with Montana Game Wardens. Stop in daily from 9 am–12 pm and 1 pm–3 pm to snap a photo with the wardens.

Swing by the CRAZY CREEK booth # 41513 during the NSFF SHOT Show to meet the team and learn more. A 15% off Show Special will also be available onsite for SHOT Show attendees only.

###

About CRAZY CREEK

Founded in 1987 in Red Lodge, Montana, CRAZY CREEK was born in the backcountry and built for people who spend real time on rough ground. For more than three decades, CRAZY CREEK has equipped people to Take a Seat—whether deep in the wilderness or close to home—providing dependable support wherever the ground works against them.

Learn more at crazycreek.com.

Media Contact: Verde Brand Communications, crazycreek@verdepr.com