Buffalo, MN – Luth-AR expands its lineup of performance-driven AR components with the AR Globe Charging Handle™, a new ergonomic approach to a familiar control.

Replacing the traditional flat latch, the GlobeCharging Handle™ features a sculpted, tactile globe interface designed to fit the finger naturally. This intuitive shape allows for fast, positive charging using a fingertip, pinch, or full-hand grip, while reducing hand fatigue and minimizing slippage in wet or gloved conditions.

Engineered for smooth, reliable interaction with the bolt carrier group, the Globe Charging Handle delivers a consistent, confident feel across a wide range of shooting styles and experience levels.

The AR Globe Charging Handle™ reflects Luth-AR's focus on practical innovation—simple ideas executed with precision to improve real-world performance.

Attendees of the 2026 SHOT Show can see and handle the AR Globe Charging Handle™ in person at the Luth-AR booth, #42804, where the company will be showcasing its latest advancements in AR components and accessories.

MSRP $49.99, Dealer, Quantity and OEM pricing is available upon request.
