ENJOYING LIFE IN AND AROUND BALTIMORE COUNTY

"Baltimore County is halfway between Ocean City, New Jersey, and Ocean City, Maryland. You will never run out of things to do. There are so many places to go. No matter what you are into, they have everything here; it's a great area."

- Jeff Merlette, science teacher, Dundalk Middle School

With suburban, rural and urban neighborhoods stretching from the Chesapeake Bay to the Maryland-Pennsylvania line, Baltimore County offers a little something for everyone. The county is rich in history and features lively town centers and peaceful outdoor spaces. Towson, the county's seat, continues to develop as a cultural destination and was recently ranked one of the most exciting suburbs in the nation. And, in Baltimore County, you are just a short drive or train ride away from the nation's capital and an even shorter drive away from all the entertainment Baltimore City offers.

The city bustles with shops, restaurants, farmers' markets and museums, as well as the National Aquarium in Baltimore and Maryland Science Center, located in the world-renowned Inner Harbor. Come to the harbor for great views, events and street performances, but also explore the many delights of Baltimore's distinct neighborhood-based shopping and dining areas including Fell's Point, Canton, Harbor East, Hampden, Federal Hill and Belvedere Square.

If you are a sports fan, Baltimore is the place to be! Camden Yards, where the Orioles play, is one of the most gorgeous, state-of-the-art parks you will ever see. M&T Bank Stadium, located at the south point of Camden Yards, reigns as one of the NFL's premier sports facilities. The pride of Baltimore fans makes the stadium the most exciting place to be during a Ravens' home game.

More than just fun, Baltimore is also a great place to learn and grow –with 15 colleges and universities in the area, including Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland Baltimore County. It's also a great and affordable place to live. Many apartment complexes provide discounts or application fee waivers to teachers; just ask!
